WHY TWO NAVY YARDS AT BOSTON?

Portsmouth Yard Can Furnish the Room
For Both—Why Not Enlarge Here, Mr.
Secretary?

Portsmouth is pleased when it learns of the advancement and growth of Boston, but it will not approve the building up and the enlargement of the Boston navy yard at the expense of Portsmouth.

For over forty years commercial interests have required the space now occupied by the Boston navy yard. The water facilities have been needed by the shipping interests and every secretary has seriously considered the abandonment of that section because of lack of room. And now comes Asst. Secretary Roosevelt with a scheme to build another yard at Boston and retain the other for repair work. Very well Mr. Secretary, but why not utilize the property here to its fullest capacity? We have the dock room and if more land is needed it can be had for the asking.

The Herald believes that Secretary Daniels' policy of saving every dollar he can for the government should be made effective in utilizing the many advantages of this station.

Every navy board for many years has been opposed to the enlargement of the Boston navy yard. Here we have at Portsmouth everything necessary for the greatest naval station in the world and again we ask why not use it?

In England, it is the great Portsmouth dock yard, and some day when justice prevails it will be the great dock yard of Portsmouth, U. S. A.

Many times Secretary Daniels has spoken in warm appreciation of the immense opportunities for growth here. He can save the government millions of dollars by enlarging this yard.

FIND WHISKY IN BARRELS OF OIL

Boston, Sept. 5.—Have a "hooker of oil?"

This salutation accompanied by a wink would have been a popular one down around Lewiston, Me., if two officers of the Hanover street station hadn't stepped into the game and spotted things generally.

A "hooker of oil" for those that received the invitation would have amounted to a glass of whisky, even though Maine has a bone dry state for the officers say that the five barrels of whisky were consigned to a garage keeper in that city as five barrels of oil. They detected the transfer of the whisky through this city.

The barrels were marked oil. In reality they are said to have been double barrels, there being a smaller barrel inside the oil barrel, which when tapped let out a stream of whisky.

Charles Abrahams, the driver of the wagon, was haled into the city police court yesterday by Sgt. O'Donnell and Special Officer Chalmers, charged with illegally transporting liquor. His case went over for a week at the request of the officers.

ENGINEERS MAKE MINOR REPAIRS

Boston, Sept. 4.—Officials of the Boston and Maine railroad said today that the strike of repair shop and roundhouse men had not yet resulted in any interference with train schedules. They added that engineers and firemen were making minor repairs on locomotives at the end of their runs.

The ferry boat Alice Howard has returned from Portland where it has been undergoing repairs.

ENGLISH RAID GERMAN DOCKS ON BELGIAN COAST

(By Associated Press)
London, Sept. 5.—English air planes shelled a large section of the water front in Belgium, raining many shells on the docks and ware houses. Fires were started and explosions followed. The raid was made on the third unit and several tons of bombs were dropped. All machines returned.

TWO BRITISH FREIGHTERS GO DOWN

(By Associated Press)
Boston, Sept. 5.—The British steamers Comore and Kenyon, both well known here, have been reported sunk. The Kenyon was on her way to this country. She was built in 1912 and was of 3918 tons. She made a number of voyages to this port.

ITALIANS CONTINUE THEIR DRIVE

(By Associated Press)
Rome, Sept. 5.—Monte Gabrial has been captured together with 950 prisoners, including 32 officers. The Italians now possess the entire chain of mountains which dominate Crozia.

SUBMARINE ON ENGLISH COAST TOWN

(By Associated Press)
London, Sept. 5.—A large German submarine fired thirty shells into Scarborough last night. Three persons were killed. Little damage was done.

GERMANS SINK 75,000 TONS DURING AUGUST

(By Associated Press)
Copenhagen, Sept. 5.—A prominent German official states that the German submarines sunk over 75,000 tons during August.

GERMANS SUCCESSFULLY RAID LONDON

Many Killed and Wounded--Theatres and Stores Hit

(By Associated Press)
London, Sept. 5.—Two successive air raids were made over the city last night, the first at 12 o'clock and another shortly after 1 o'clock. The German airplanes could be plainly heard but owing to a thick mist they could not be seen. Every available anti-aircraft gun opened fire upon the enemy and the English flyers gave battle. The story as given out officially is as follows:

Eleven persons were killed and 62 injured in last night's air raid over London. One raider was brought down. It was the first moonlight air raid from the London district and it occurred about midnight last night. One bomb fell just outside of a hospital. Another smashed through a theatre. Another hit a retail store in which a number of girls were sleeping. Their engines could be plainly heard overhead. A slight haze made it impossible to see them. The raiders were constantly attacked by anti-aircraft guns. British machines went up to attack them. The streets were all deserted at the time of the raid, being long after theatre hours. The few late street cars put out their lights. A message from the Southeast district said the raiders crossed the North Sea in three successive groups. All were attacked both coming and returning about one o'clock this morning.

Raiders again appeared over the London district. Some people claim to have seen many of the airplanes but they were quickly lost sight of in the haze and after dropping bombs the raiders returned seaward. They were located at a height of nine thousand feet by search-light. The official statement says it is possible that as many as twenty machines took part in the raid, coming singly or in groups of two or three, making it difficult to estimate their number with accuracy. The airplanes crossed the south coast over a wide area. Many bombs were dropped in the coast district.

SAYS DIVINITY MEN SHOULD NOT BE EXEMPT

Local War Board Has Interesting Letter From Dean at Yale University

The local war board is in receipt of an interesting communication in relation to the exemption claim of Howard R. McCartney of Kingston, a student of divinity. McCartney applied for a transfer from the local board to the board at White Plains, N. Y., on the ground that he was a resident of Harford, N. Y. The local board granted the transfer and later he filed for exemption stating that he was in charge of the William A. Reed memorial community house and Memorial Community church. To support his claim he requested a certificate from Charles R. Brown, dean of the School of Religion, Yale University, at New Haven to show that he was a student there on a certain date.

The head of the school made the following reply:

"New Haven, Aug. 29, 1917.
"My Dear Mr. McCartney—I have your letter of 21st. We do not attempt to sit in judgment on the action of men who seek to claim exemption on the ground of their having been divinity students. That is a matter which they must settle with their own conscience and the Lord. The members of our faculty have nearly all regretted that this clause was inserted in the bill, casting as it does a slight on the patriotism of divinity men which we believe to be unjust. I have felt therefore, that I could not assist men in seeking exemption from the service of the country on that ground. Trusting you will understand my feeling and with every good wish, I am very truly yours,
"CHARLES R. BROWN."

N. E. MEMBERS ARRIVE AT AYER

(By Associated Press)
Ayer, Mass., Sept. 5.—The advance guard of men selected by draft from New England and Northern New York for service in the new National Army arrived at Camp Devens today and entered the rapidly built cantonment, which was fully ready for them. The scene was inspiring. It was a typical New England autumn day, the coolest of the season. The State of Maine was the first to have its men on the grounds, coming from down east on a night train. They arrived early in the morning and were permitted to sleep in their cars before reporting at the camp shortly after 6 a. m.

Little groups of two or three men, residents of Ayer and nearby towns, presented themselves at headquarters. It was stated that before night 1 per cent of the 42,000 for the 76th Division of the National Army would be in the cantonment. Before noon about half the number expected at camp arrived, and the men were getting acquainted with army life. They were met at the railroad station by newly commissioned officers from Plattsburg and rode to camp in motor trucks. Upon arrival at camp the men were checked and the men assigned to Company barracks. There they immediately underwent a physical examination and vaccinated and then provided with the official clothing and equipment. Men from Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut and New Hampshire were among the morning arrivals.

TWO KILLED WHEN AUTO HITS LOCOMOTIVE

(By Associated Press)
Green Harbor, Mass., Sept. 5.—Two people were killed when an auto smashed into the side of a freight locomotive. Edna Greenwood of Kingston was thrown against the locomotive and later died at the hospital this morning. Her father, Harland W. Greenwood, was instantly killed. Mrs. Greenwood, his wife, was seriously injured about the head and physicians said she would probably die.

The thirty-second annual outing of the P. A. C. will take place at Rand's Grove, Nye, on Monday next.

GERMANS RAID FRENCH HOSPITALS

(By Associated Press)
Paris, Sept. 5.—German attacks on the Alsace front last night were repelled by the French, says an official communication. The French made successful attacks in the Champagne district. French hospitals were again bombarded by German airplanes during the night and much damage done.

THINKS YEOMAN SOURCE OF 'LEAK'

Providence, Sept. 4.—Further development in the arrest at Newport on August 22 of a yeoman aboard an American torpedo boat, suspected of being in the service of the German spy system, leads U. S. Secret Service Agent Callaghan of this city to believe the government has the man responsible for the alleged "leak" on movements of torpedo boat flotillas from this country.

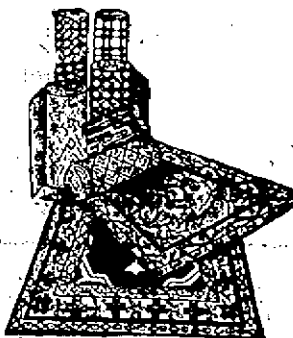

The torpedo boat in question of which the yeoman held a confidential position is no longer at Newport, and the yeoman is being held for the naval authorities.

DRAFTED MEN HONORED BY BIG PARADE

Washington in Holiday Attire While Men March--President Greets New National Army.

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Sept. 5.—With the President of the United States, members of both Houses of Congress, high officials and diplomats participating, the National Capital today paid a farewell tribute to her sons who soon will enter the National Army for service overseas with the expeditionary forces. The demonstration took the form of a parade in which the men of the Selective Draft Army, led by President Wilson and accompanied by veterans of the Blue and Gray, soldiers, sailors and marines, will swing up historic Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol past the White House.

The Senate and House prepared to adjourn early in order to take part, it being the first time that Congress ever has marched in any popular demonstration. The Senate was led by Senator Saulsbury, president pro tem, and the House by Speaker Champ Clark and Uncle Joe Cannon, both of whom returned to their seats despite their advanced age.

Senators Nelson and Warren, who fought on the Union side in the Civil War, and Senators Martin and Bankhead, who were with the armies of the Confederacy, marched side by side in their respective uniforms of blue and gray. Veterans of the Spanish War who were with the Senate delegation are Senators New, Pringle, Wadsworth, Lewis, Weeks, Vandenberg and Hall.

As the van of the column reached the White House, the President entered the reviewing stand. With him were Vice President, special Ambassador from Japan, and the members of the Japanese mission, the French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand, the Mexican Ambassador and Senora Bonillas and other members of the diplomatic corps.

Government departments and business establishments were closed, to permit employees either to march or to witness the parade. Societies and civic organizations were represented by large delegations. And floats, the only banner permitted, with the exception of the standards, distinguishing the various groups was the Stars and Stripes.

Among the military units represented were the regiment from the Officers' Reserve Camp at Fort Myer, Va., the District National Guard, one regiment of engineers, several battalions of Coast and Field Artillery and a squadron of Regular Cavalry.

The line of march was over ground made historic as the route taken by the Presidents in going to the Capitol to take the oath of office. There the Grand Army of the Republic swept by in review after the Civil War, and in recent months, on the occasion of the annual reunion, marched the survivors of the Confederate Army.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Soldiers of the National Army were welcomed into the Nation's service today by President Wilson with a message of affectionate confidence and a prayer to God to keep and guide them. The first soldiers for the army raised under the Draft Law start from their homes for the training contingents on Wednesday.

The President's message follows: To the soldiers of the National Army: You are undertaking a great duty. The heart of the whole country is with you. Everything that you do will be watched with the deepest interest and with the deepest sympathy not only by those who are near and dear to you, but by the whole Nation besides. For this great war draws us all together, makes us all comrades and brothers; as all true Americans felt themselves to be when we first made good our national independence. The eyes of all the world will be upon you, because you are in some special sense the soldiers of freedom.

Let it be your pride, therefore, to show all men everywhere not only what good soldiers you are, but also what good men you are, keeping yourselves fit and straight in everything and pure and clean through and through. Let us set for ourselves a standard so high that it will be a glory to live up to it and then let us live up to it and add a new laurel to the crown of America.

My affectionate confidence goes with you in every battle and every test. God keep and guide you!

WOODROW WILSON.

PORTSMOUTH DAY AT THE FAIR

Big Society Horse Show With Many
Entries a Feature of the Closing
Day--Winners Tuesday.

Today, the third and last day of Portsmouth Fair, will be Portsmouth day, and a half holiday will be observed by practically every store in the city. With few exceptions the stores will close at noon, thus giving their clerks, and the public in general an opportunity to attend the closing day of the fair, which will come to an end with a bang.

Children's Day will also be observed Wednesday. There will be games for the young folks, folk dancing, and the judging contest for the boys and girls in crops, canning, sewing, dairy and live stock will take place in the forenoon.

The big feature of the afternoon will be the society horse show, with William A. Bragdon in charge. There will be three big horse races during the afternoon, including the free for all. Each purse will be of three hundred dollars. Portsmouth's favorite horse, Mudlake, owned by A. Schurman, will race in this class, and is expected to make a good showing. In addition to the above, there will also be a farmers' race of a half mile for 25 bushels of oats, and a hurdle race for saddle horses. Between the racing heats a free vaudeville show will be given on the stage in the inner ring. Several band concerts will also be given during the day.

On Tuesday there was a large attendance, although not as large as on Labor Day. A cattle show was the feature of the morning, while racing held the attention in the afternoon, and another fine racing card was presented, as good as that given the first day.

The 232 pace was won by Baron Strathmore, Burke Bros., Manchester 1-12-1.

Common Veto, J. H. Haddock, Lakeport 2-2-1-2.
Ready Money, E. S. George, Rochester, 2-3-3-1.

TWO BATHERS CAUGHT IN UNDERTOW

While bathing in the surf at Hampton Beach, on Monday, Charles H. Bowery, of 93 Cottage street, Leominster, Mass., was nearly drowned.

Bowery was about 100 yards from shore when the undertow, said to be the worst of the season, took him off his feet and he was being swept seaward when Paul Bethman and James Keefe of Dover, who were near by in a canoe, went to his assistance. He was taken into the canoe exhausted and a start made for the shore.

The little craft had gone a short distance when it was overturned in the breakers and all of the occupants spilled into the sea. Lifeguard Charles Cassidy and others had arrived in the meantime and the three men were assisted to the shore. A physician resuscitated Bowery.

Harold Reynolds, aged 28, of Boston, was rescued by the coast guard at Salisbury Beach Monday from drowning in the surf. He was taken to the Ferdinand cottage where artificial respiration and stimulants restored circulation.

DROWNED IN BATHING AT SALISBURY

Joseph Gague, 19, young son of Salter street, South Lawrence, was drowned at Salisbury Beach on Sunday when a strong undertow swept him beneath the heavy surf on the beach. Kenneth G. Compton of Lawrence, who had been with Gague, was taken into the surf and recovered the body, but the efforts of life guards with a pump proved unavailing. Because of the small amount of water in his lungs, it was thought that Gague died from heart failure. Gague was staying with his family at the Victoria cottage.

An hour later Harry Reynolds, of Boston narrowly escaped drowning in a similar manner. Capt. Clendenen and the crew of the coast guard station rescued him from the surf and revived him after a half-hour's work with the pump. All day life guards were stationed along the beach to warn bathers against the undertow.

MILES per GALLON

When you figure miles per gallon, there is no gasoline as cheap and efficient as SOCONY. Because SOCONY is not only pure and powerful, but uniform.

Every gallon is like every other gallon, no matter where you buy it—quick starting and chock full of energy. The SOCONY seal means that the gasoline it marks is the best that extensive sources of supply and highly scientific refining can produce.

SOCONY is so different from the inert mixtures that are often sold as gasoline that it pays to be particular what goes into your tank. Say "So-Co-ny" and look for the Red, White and Blue SOCONY sign.

One Way to Prevent Waste.

A writer to a newspaper in a New England city where a public market was recently established for the purpose of bringing producers and consumers together for their mutual advantage makes a suggestion that is at least partly good. He has noticed that there are days when the supply of produce exceeds the demand, and it has occurred to him that when any farmer or gardener is unable to sell all of his load it would be nice if he would give the remainder to the charitable institutions of the city or sell it to them at nominal rates. Something along this line has already been done by at least one gardener, the writer says, and he is of the opinion that there must be others willing to do the same thing, once their attention is called to the subject. He says very truthfully that none of the products should be allowed to go to waste.

This suggestion is worthy of attention wherever and whenever the markets are found to be overstocked, but, after all, should be growers of fruits and vegetables be asked to make all of the sacrifice? It is true that every city has its charitable institutions which would be only too glad to be provisioned for nothing or at very low cost, and which are deserving of all the attention their communities can give them; nevertheless the farmers and gardeners must live if there are to be crops another year, and they cannot live and continue to do business unless they receive reasonable returns for their products.

Without doubt most of them would, in the case of glutted markets, be willing to do their share toward preventing waste by supplying charitable institutions at very moderate rates, but it would be no more than fair for the people of the cities to be thus benefited to bear a share of the burden and thus leave the farmers and gardeners on a living basis.

Last spring there was a loud call for extra efforts along the line of food production and the response was general and generous. The result is just such an abundance as the country desired, and if this experience is to be repeated next year there must be fair returns to the tillers of the soil, who will not continue to exert themselves as they have this year if their reward is to be simply the privilege of selling what they can in glutted markets and giving the rest away.

The idea of distributing this produce so as to prevent waste is excellent, but this should be a community work and not the work of individuals. With the government fixing the minimum price of wheat at $2.20 a bushel few will be found willing to raise vegetables and fruits to give away. The condition offers a chance for the people of cities where the markets are overcrowded with produce to make themselves useful in devising ways and means of distribution which would inure to the benefit of all.

A regular bus line between this city and Newington is an outgrowth of the ship building industry at the latter place, which is bringing a lot of life and activity to this section of the state. And a very welcome feature of the situation is that it is putting a large amount of money in circulation. These are indeed bright days for Portsmouth and Newington.

The government turns down the request for the exemption of medical students from conscription as a class. This is in accord with the original plan of exempting no class of workers as a whole, and it is better so. If hardships were to be avoided entirely it would be impossible to prosecute the war, which is now the nation's leading duty.

When $600 can be raised for navy relief in a city of this size at a single tea party it shows where the people stand with reference to supporting the war to the limit. There may be slackers in Portsmouth, but the city itself is very far from being one.

A most interesting feature of the agricultural fairs this fall are the exhibits of vegetables grown by the children. The boys and girls in all parts of New England have done remarkably well and are deserving of the utmost credit.

Some of the coal operators complain that the government is placing the price too low. But no such complaint has yet been received from consumers, who are still waiting patiently for even a little relief.

The vacation season is ended and the churches and schools will now get down to business again. Dillo a lot of other people who have been having a good time in spite of war conditions.

The British army is again using "tanks" to good advantage. The resourcefulness of all parties to the struggle is tremendous, and what will yet be developed no one can tell.

England says Germany must be beaten at any cost, and Germany says the same of England. It is evident that the cost of war is bound to be high.

From the Exchanges

The Boston & Maine Strike

(From the Boston Transcript.) It is impossible to avoid a frank reckoning with the potential gravity of the situation introduced by the strike of the Boston & Maine Railroad mechanics. Even in a time of peace, the present controversy would be likely to spread very soon beyond the attention merely of New England and to interest the nation at large. This would be so because, if all existing signs may be trusted, the requests now locally filed are only the initial demand in a campaign which the directing heads of the unions involved intend to make much more extensive throughout the country. According to some authorities, the increases of payroll, naturally contingent upon the success of the campaign intended, would exceed the advances lately put upon the operating costs of the railroads by the Adamson law. A second phase of this kind, following so closely after the first, would necessarily be of important concern, even in peace times; to the task of continuing the great business of our railroads about a sudden and serious advance in rates. At this time when the efficient and continuous operation of the railroads is a first necessity in the conduct of war, the call for the intervention of an agency qualified to represent with authority and fair-mindedness the nation's interest in the present strike situation becomes imperative.

It is from the Council of National Defense that New England will expect to see such an initiative shortly proceeding. Nothing less than its action will be wholly sufficient to the emergency. Although the position of James H. Hustis as directing head of the Boston & Maine under a receivership granted by a Federal Court is in one sense a restraint upon his freedom of management in the present controversy, by the very responsibilities of conservation imposed upon him by the Court's trust he might have invoked the Court's most drastic protection. It is fair to assume that the strike could have been stopped by injunction. But such was not the consummation to be desired in the present emergency. It must only have injected a certain bitterness into the dispute, and have failed to bring the whole matter sufficiently into the open. The responsible parties have preferred to invite full statement of both sides' positions, and full and free judgment on the part of the public. In such circumstances the decision of the public cannot be loosely guided, but must rest upon the report and decree of the high national board charged with authority in the premises. The war must be waged with the support of the railroads, both employees and officials, and the sooner the National Council of Defense or its delegated agents speak out to show how that end can be accomplished and point the way out of the present difficulty, on the Boston & Maine the better for all parties concerned.

No "New Evidence" in Sight

(From the Brooklyn Daily Eagle) In an interview with a representative of the Associated Press, the British Minister of Blockade said he was certain that none of the Allies could improve upon the reply sent to the Vatican, a statement which takes its place at the head of the list of commitments to the President. Not far below it is the tribute of the Saturday Review which describes the reply as the most forcible state paper issued during the war.

An absolutely accurate view of the case is taken by the Journal des Debats, which is sure that until Germany feels defeat she will not listen to President Wilson. The only result it anticipates is that the masters of Germany will exploit the reply to arouse sentiment in their favor. It will merely furnish the Prussian General Staff with material for new aggression. It would be the sheerest fatality to look forward to any other consequence.

The embargo pinches. A Holland newspaper says if that country must wait until the spirit of the reply permeates Europe, it will have to suffer much longer under terrific war burdens. Well, that is rather the misfortune than the fault of Holland and of other neutral nations. The only Danish comment is that the President should have given to the world his formula for peace.

He has, He has set forth a condition precedent, which is that it shall be based upon terms the peoples at war with Germany would be justified in accepting. He has protested that the word of the present rulers of Germany cannot be taken as a guarantee of anything that is to endure and that commitments made with the German Government cannot be depended upon. There are scraps enough in the waste paper basket.

The proposals and the answer to them have altered none of the fundamentals in the least. They have modified them not in the least. They have left them what they were. One of the fundamentals is that what is called Prussianism, has not worn out its welcome with the German people. Like others, they are weary of the war, but not of the auspices under which they are waging it.

Of the guarantee to which he referred the President said: "God grant it may come soon and in a way to restore the confidence of all peoples everywhere in the faith of nations and the possibility of a covenant peace." The answer to that prayer will come only when we have some "new evidence of the purpose of the great peace of the Central Powers." Of this evidence few, if any, signs have been forthcoming. Apparently weariness must be translated into exhaustion.

LONG DEBATE ON PEACE IN VIENNA

Amsterdam, Sept. 4.—Dr. Von Kuehlmann, the German Foreign Secretary, who is on a visit to Vienna, discussed all day yesterday with Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian Foreign Minister, the terms of the reply of the Central Powers to the Pope.

The Emperor received both ministers last night and heard their proposals regarding the answer.

Dr. von Kuehlmann is expected to return to Berlin today and will proceed immediately to headquarters to report to the German Emperor.

CAUGHT BILL WITH LANDLORD'S CLOTHES

Boyle Gets Sixty Days for Stealing $18 Suit.

William Boyle, a lodger at the residence of Frank E. Moore on Fleet street, likes good clothes, especially when the glad rags come his way for nothing. Bill took it upon himself to doll up Tuesday evening and appropriated one suit from the wardrobe of the proprietor and was ready for a trip away from his boudoir when the climax came. Bill had been mixed up in some phony cash matter and the police made a call to see what Bill knew about another bill with a "g" marked on it. It was then that Moore gazed on William adorned in the best toga in the house. There was no further argument. They got the goods on Bill and today the court put him on the visiting list for 60 days at the Rockingham county bastille on Penhallow street.

GETS BOARD BILL FROM POORHOUSE

Boston, Sept. 5.—Even the poorhouse renders board bills. Down in Tewkesbury some time ago William P. Grinnell journeyed over the hills to the poor farm. About a year ago the affairs of Henry Green began to be straightened out in court. Mrs. Green had enjoyed during her life the interest on $100,000 from the will of her aunt, Sylvia Ann Howland. At Mrs. Green's death, the will provided that the fortune was to be one of these, receiving $10,000. When this was discovered at the poorhouse the inmates began to call him "Mister." But the superintendent made out a board bill for $205. Yesterday in the superior court the town of Tewkesbury asked that the trustees of the Howland estate pay the bill out of the Grinnell legacy, which he hasn't as yet received, and which at last accounts he didn't very much want.

SAYS NEW WAR PLANE CAN CROSS ATLANTIC

New York, Sept. 4.—That the new Italian warplanes are capable of crossing the Atlantic, and that plans are afoot for a flight from Genoa to New York by way of the Azores was the message brought yesterday to members of the Aero Club of America by Major R. Perotti, head of the Special Italian Aeronautic Commission in the United States.

Major Perotti, Capt. Pomilio, Lieut. Resnati, Adamoli, Testoni and Ballerini, all of the Royal Italian Flying Corps, were guests of honor yesterday at a reception tendered them at the Aero Club. They were welcomed by Alan R. Hawley, President; Henry Woodhouse, Charles Jerome Edwards and Henry A. Wise Wood.

The new battleplanes, Major Perotti explained, are equipped with three motors of 700-horse power each. He said the manufacturers will be able to arrange with the Italian Government for flights to America. He said similar aeroplanes can be manufactured in this country that can start from here and go via the Azores to Genoa, the opposite of the route those sent from Italy will follow. He expressed the hope that patriotic Americans or the Government may carry out this plan and stated that the Italian Government will cooperate.

WHAT WE FIGHT

"The war was begun by the military masters of Germany, who proved to be also the masters of Austria-Hungary. These men have never regarded nations as peoples, men, women and children of like blood and frame as themselves, for whom governments existed and in whom governments had life. They have regarded them merely as serviceable organizations which they could by force or intrigue bend or corrupt to their own purpose. They have regarded the smaller states in particular, and the peoples who could be overwhelmed by force, as their natural tools and instruments of domination. Their purpose has long been avowed. "If they succeed they are safe and Germany and the world will be undone; if they fail, Germany is saved and the world will be at peace. If they succeed America will fall within the menckle. We and all the rest of the world must remain armed, as they will remain, and must make ready for the next step in their aggression; if they fail the world may unite for peace and Germany may be of the union."—Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States.

The Final Payment
The fifty and final payment of thirty per centum on Liberty Loan bonds purchased on installments is due on August 30th. According to the official statement of terms and conditions of the sale of Liberty Loan Bonds issued by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo at the time subscription to the bonds was invited the payments must be made on or before that date.

Whether the Liberty Bonds were purchased from the treasury or from the federal reserve banks or through other banks or agencies it is important that this installment be paid promptly.

"With the first installment of the Liberty Loan completed, immensely gratifying as is the result, we must remember that the financing of a great war is never completed until the war is finished; and we are going to finish this war to our satisfaction in order that America may not be finished. We must stay on the job and do it in true American fashion. We have proved our selves on the first test; we must be prepared for the second, the third, and the fourth if need be.

"This war must be fought to a finish, because there is an irrepressible conflict between two irreconcilable principles and systems of organized society that never will be settled until it is fought to a finish. The world can no longer survive half democratic and half autocratic. One or the other must triumph. We are confronted today with an analogous situation to that which confronted the nation in 1861 when the immortal Lincoln said: 'This nation can no longer endure half slave and half free.' We had to fight that irreconcilable issue to a conclusion and we fought it to a right conclusion. We vindicated freedom in America. We obliterated slavery from the free soil of this great nation. That is what we have got to do for the entire world—destroy despotism, which is another form of slavery, and make liberty supreme. In no other way can the world be made safe for democracy. It is a noble ideal; it is the only kind of an ideal for which a great republic like ours, a republic of freedom, could or would fight."—William M. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury.

URGES POWER PLANTS TO SAVE ON COAL

An urgent appeal for fuel economy not only as an absolute necessity for protection but as a patriotic duty, is made to the coal users of New England by the Committee on Power Plant Economy which has just been created by the New England coal committee.

The committee said: "We would urge on all plants an accurate daily report of the amount of coal burned, for the direct attention of the responsible managers, who should impress on their engineers the absolute necessity of the most economical use of coal as a patriotic service.

"We urge, also, the hearty co-operation of the men who actually fire the coal. If they are unable to serve their country by enlisting in its military or naval forces, a few pounds of coal saved by each one every day during the coming winter will in the aggregate amount to enough to send many a ship loaded with supplies for our men at the front.

On request the New England Coal Committee will gladly send an inspector to investigate the report on conditions in any plant, charging only a fair price to cover the bare cost of services."

An auto from this city was ditched on the Dover road on Tuesday evening.

AUTO SMASHUP ON CURVE AT HAMPTON BEACH

A NEW HAMPSHIRE AND MASS. CAR MEET IN HEAD-ON COLLISION AT LEAVITT'S CORNER

About eleven o'clock Tuesday evening a bad automobile accident occurred at Hampton Beach which resulted in the placing under arrest of the driver of one of the machines. A large touring car, bearing the New Hampshire license No. 16154 and containing two men and two women, bound for the beach, collided head on with a car bearing the Mass. license No. 3059 coming in the opposite direction at Leavitt's Corner, the last turn in the highway just before the beach is reached. The Massachusetts car is said to be owned by Charles Summers of Haverhill. At the time of the accident the chauffeur was the only one in the car, and he was later placed under arrest by the Hampton Beach police charged with reckless driving.

All four people in the New Hampshire car were badly shaken up and rather severely injured, and it is reported that they were taken to the Exeter Cottage Hospital. The chauffeur of the Mass. car escaped with a shaking up. Both cars were badly damaged, the New Hampshire car being the more so of the two. Its radiator was broken, lights smashed and framework twisted. The other car was also smashed up somewhat.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S PALACE

(By Associated Press)

Cortu, island of Cortu, Sept. 2.—Emperor William's famous summer palace of Cortu, on a height overlooking the Bay of Cortu, had the French flag flying over it when we drove up for a visit today. At the gateway the army of the Hohenzollerns blazed from the massive iron gates through back on either side. But these proud arms were for the moment obscured by the solid ranks of French soldiers, many troops from French Senegal in the heat of Africa, black as coal, in the French grey uniform with red feet. They saluted the French officers as we passed through the gate.

All about was evidence that French had replaced German direction at this imperial establishment, and that instead of being a summer plaything for majesty, it was now being put to real use.

The island itself is temporarily under a French military governor. The French battleships and cruisers crowd the harbor and dominate the heights, and French soldiers and sailors make up a considerable part of the medley of races emptied into Cortu by the stress of war. Here at the palace grounds we passed French Red Cross nurses, tending wounded French soldiers in the olive groves, and one of the high officers of the French medical service came from the palace to greet the party as it arrived.

This palace of the emperor is one of the curiosities of the east and is typical in many ways of the eccentric genius which conceived it. There are palaces the world over but nothing quite like this exists anywhere. Only Emperor William could have developed such an idea. The whole scheme is that he might enjoy these classic and heroic surroundings during the love-lit period of the year. Looking down the steep cliff and seeing the imperial landing place, where the yacht was moored during these visits. Here the Emperor first set foot, reaching the palace by a flight of steps hewn in the rocks, lined with marble statues of Greek deities.

The palace dominates a vast stretch of land and water—Albani, just across the strait, then Greek Epirus to the south, the mountains and valleys of Cortu near at hand, Italy lying low in the dim distance to the west, and the clear blue waters of the Adriatic reaching in all directions through the tangle of islands. It is suggestive of imperialism, and one thinks of what Emperor William had in mind when he looked out on this circle of many lands and their strategic waters.

There is one definite clue to his thoughts. In the heroic statue of Achilles which he built at the highest point dominating all this land and water. The statue is of bronze, showing the hero armed from head to foot, sword in hand and shield on his breast, straining forward for the fight and looking intently on this imperial and heroic. The palace is planted on the very spot where Ulysses came for his sojourn, and from the imperial chamber one looks out on the classic island of Ulysses where the great hero spent his leisure hours. Like Ulysses, Emperor William came here for his leisure, in every May until the war began the imperial yacht anchored Europe from the North Sea to the eastern Mediterranean in order to give foreign kings and waters spread at his feet. Perhaps William had in mind something more than a top palace dedicated to Ulysses and Achilles, and that the old Trojan heroes revived dreams of universal conquest.

The Gold Banquet Scene in Charles W. Savage's Inspiring Dramatic Spectacle "Everywoman," Which Comes to the Colonial for One Night, Friday, Sept. 7.

The palace is of white marble quite squarely and solidly built after the Greek classical design with the suggestion that a German hand had modernized the old classical lines. Along the middle front facing the sea, runs a deep wide marble gallery or porch, and similar wide galleries are in the eastern end where the entrance is located. The building is three stories high with a frontage of about five hundred feet, and has about one hundred rooms, including ball rooms, state dining room, a royal chapel, and the suites of imperial chambers. The marble columns of the galleries, the window cornices and friezes along the front are all essentially Greek, and the whole palace has the massiveness and majesty of a Greek temple.

TO RAISE FIVE POINTS AGAINST THE DRAFT LAW

Washington, Sept. 4.—When the question of the constitutionality of the conscription law is raised before the Supreme Court, five different points will be brought up by those who are opposed to the law to support their contention that the act conflicts with the provisions of the Federal Constitution. No attempt will be made, it is understood to raise the question whether compulsory service involves "slavery or involuntary servitude," that point having already been decided adversely in a judicial interpretation. The anti-drafters contend that the act, first, that it violates the provisions of the Constitution which requires that the militia may be called out only "to execute the laws of the Union, suppress insurrection and repel invasion," and that the states shall have control of the militia. This view is held by Hannis Taylor, formerly ambassador to Spain, and by Congressman Mason of Illinois.

They will also contend that the law violates the Constitution in assuming to delegates powers reserved to Congress—legislative powers and the power to raise and support armies—to the President of the United States.

In the original plan, it was decided to plead that the bill violates the 13th amendment, which forbids "slavery and involuntary servitude." This point, however, may not be raised.

It will be maintained, however, that the act violates the first amendment of the Constitution in discriminating in favor of adherents of certain religions, thereby denying the "free exercise" of religion stipulated by the amendment. The anti-drafters contend that the law violates the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, which provides that citizens may not be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law; in that it confers on the President discretionary and arbitrary powers in selecting citizens for drafting into the army.

The constitutional guarantee of a republican form of government, it is contended, is also violated, for by the law citizens may be kept in foreign service "during the emergency," subject to military law, and possibly under the command of a foreign non-republican government.

"If a million citizens can thus be drafted and kept under martial law, ten millions can be so drafted, and the entire male population may be kept in the army indefinitely, thus substituting military autocracy for the republican form of government," the anti-draft leaders contend.

RENT CLOTHES TO SAILORS SO THEY CAN BUY LIQUOR

New York, Sept. 4.—Two arrests yesterday brought the attention of the police and the Federal authorities to unusual ways in which sailors and soldiers are defeating the law to prevent their obtaining liquor. The law forbids the sale of intoxicants to soldiers and sailors in uniform.

One arrest developed the fact that small clothing merchants are renting civilian suits and hats to uniformed members of the National Army and taking them back after the sailor or soldier has bought all the liquor he requires. The uniforms are left as guarantees that the suits will be returned. The other arrest indicates that certain sailors who wish liquor change clothes with civilians. Whether these civilians are paid does not appear.

Earl Shaureck, eighteen, was arrested by the Coney Island police for intoxication and creating a disturbance on Surf Avenue. When he sobered up in the Coney Island police station he sent for the lieutenant and confessed that though in citizen's clothes he was really a sailor attached to the U. S. S. Olympia.

The lieutenant looked at the rather smart suit with well creased trousers and asked Shaureck where he got it.

"At a place on Sands street, Brooklyn," he said, "any sailor can get a suit there or at one of a dozen places by paying $2. You just go in and change clothes and when you come back you pay up and change back."

This was reported to Magistrate Gelsmar before whom the sailor was brought. After suspending sentence the Magistrate severely arraigned merchants who thus help saloonkeepers evade the law.

Albert Ronalds of Harmon, N. Y.,

arrested at Port Jervis for stealing a ride on an Erie train, was taken before Police Justice Devans of that place. He wore a sailor's uniform, but admitted he was no sailor.

"Where did you get the uniform?" asked the Justice.

"Well, I don't expect you to believe me, but I'll tell you the God's honest truth about it," answered the prisoner. "A sailor came up to me in Jersey City and told me he was so thirsty he was choking and asked me to swap suits so he could get a glass of beer. We swapped and he went into a saloon. He must have gone out the back door, for I never saw him again. I had to keep the uniform on or go naked."

The Justice accepted the story, but fined Ronalds $10 for stealing a ride on the train. Then he had a pair of overalls and a shirt brought in and took the uniform which he will send to the navy yard.

Both these incidents have been reported to the Federal authorities who are trying to stop the sale of intoxicants to men in uniform. The matter of the Sands street clothing merchants has been turned over to Police Capt. Thomas McDonald of Special Squad No. 1. He is making an investigation. It is doubted there is any law which will prevent a merchant from renting clothing to any one he sees fit.

Many saloonkeepers have been arrested recently for selling to men in uniform, and particularly those located in the vicinity of Van Cortlandt Park are beginning to get wary. They will no longer sell by the bottle even to civilians, fearing it may reach guardsmen eventually and they will be held responsible, so all they sell now must be drunk on the premises.

ROOT CALLS ON BAR TO CRY WAR ALARM

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The lawyers of America were urged to sound a "cry of alarm" throughout the Nation for a successful prosecution of the war against militarism, in an address delivered today by Elihu Root before the conference of Bar Association delegates, an organization allied with the American Bar Association.

"It is easy," he said, "for us to see that with the domination of that military system that subordinated the law, that makes the bar but a cog in an administrative system of government, and leaves to the bench no independence—it is easy for the lawyer to see that everything he has contended for of individual liberty and the supremacy of the law over executive power will be attacked and destroyed if we do not succeed in this war."

Mr. Root spoke after he had been elected Chairman of the conference. He was interrupted by applause, many times during the address.

War Time Legal Aid.

The delegates endorsed a plan for giving war time legal assistance, which pledges the lawyers to give legal aid to those entering the Federal or State service and the local Exemption Boards, to conserve the practice of lawyers entering such service; to cooperate in relief work, including gratuitous assistance in probating the estates of those who have died while in service, and assisting the Federal and State authorities in all activities in connection with the war, including furnishing public speakers for the promotion of patriotism and patriotic endeavor.

Henry R. Rathbone of Chicago, who proposed the resolution was authorized to offer it before the American Bar Association, which meets here tomorrow. Efforts made in many cities to give free legal aid to the worthy poor were endorsed in a resolution urging state and local bar associations to foster the formation in their respective jurisdictions of legal aid societies.

A resolution designed to raise the standard of qualifications for those intending to enter the profession was also adopted.

Would Amend Drug Act. The Institute adopted a resolution requesting Congress to amend the Harrison Drug Act so as to protect more fully the user of drugs as well as the dispenser. Thomas M. Osborne spoke before the Institute on "Common Sense in Prison Management."

The following officers were elected by the Bureau of Comparative Law: Director, Simon D. Baldwin, New Haven, Conn.; Secretary, Robert P. Shick, Philadelphia, Pa.; Treasurer, Eugene C. Massie, Richmond, Va.

A proposed uniform law relating to the use of the flag was the only one finally adopted by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws. Other proposals were referred back to committees. The suggested law, which will be recommended for an enactment by State Legislatures, is drastic in its prohibition of the use of the flag for advertising purposes.

Horis Bakmeteff, the Russian Ambassador was the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Judicial Section tonight.

PLACED IN CUSTODY OF INSTRUCTOR

Concord, N. H., Sept. 5.—The latest struggle between Mrs. Marguerite Paul Carpenter and her husband, Mr. Ralph Carpenter, for the custody of their 10-year old boy, Ralph, Jr., has resulted in both losing him. Judge William H. Sawyer in a decree made public today places the boy in custody of John Keat, a private instructor of this city and a former noted Harvard athlete.

The boy is to remain in Concord and if possible can be enrolled at the exclusive St. Paul's school. If Keat cannot place him there he is to attend the Concord public schools.

Each parent is to see the boy seven hours one day of each week and the mother may have him three days and the father four days during the Christmas holidays, but neither may take him away from Concord at any time.

Former Harvard Star
Kent was formerly principal of the Concord High School and later was head of several boys' schools in the West before he returned to Concord to act as a private instructor. He lives in one of the slightest places in the city, very near St. Paul's school. In his college days Kent was a star baseball player. That was back in the '80s.

While in college he took a team of Harvard players to Europe to show how the great American game is played.

Judge Sawyer's decree follows: "Ralph G. Carpenter, Jr., the only child of Ralph G. and Marguerite Paul Carpenter, was born Feb. 13, 1907. Otherwise than being somewhat large he is a normal child for his age, much of his childhood was passed in luxurious hotels, and prior to January, 1917 his education was largely under the direction of private tutors; but from January to June of this year, he has attended the public schools of Concord.

Mrs. Carpenter's Charges
"If the allegations of Marguerite Paul Carpenter, in her petition to which this motion is supplementary, are true, (as to which no opinion is entertained), the domestic relations of Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter have been anything but harmonious. She charges him with using cruel and abusive language to her, almost from the commencement of their married life; with accusing her of marital unfaithfulness, resulting in pregnancy, which she alleges he accused her of terminating by criminal operation; with violent personal assaults committed upon her in Boston, New York and Florida; with kidnapping her son from her at Milford, Mass., and secreting him at Wolfboro, N. H., with fraudulent conspiracy with his father, George A. Carpenter, to secure a divorce from her on a false charge of adultery, backed by perjured and purchased evidence and the filing of a libel to that end, which he caused to be tried in open court, at length and upon such evidence.

There is pending in Massachusetts an action in behalf of Marguerite, against her father-in-law, George A. Carpenter, to recover for alleged alienation of her husband's love and affection, in which damages are sought in the sum of $250,000.
Suit for $250,000
The petitioner testified that it is her purpose to bring an action in New Hampshire against her husband and his father to recover $250,000 based on allegations of conspiracy in relation to the aforesaid libel for divorce.

"There is also pending in the Probate Court for Carroll county, a petition by each parent, for the appointment of a guardian over Ralph, Jr., Mrs. Carpenter praying for her own appointment, and Mr. Carpenter praying for the appointment of his mother, Mrs. Emma Carpenter.

Without entering any opinion as to the merits of the allegations and petitions, it seems inevitable that their very existence and the trial of the issues raised thereby, will create an atmosphere that will be unwholesome for the child.

If any sufficient reason exists why this innocent boy should be required to live with it, it has not been suggested to nor is it perceived by the court. The hostility of the parents, each toward the other, and one toward the child's grandparents, fully disclosed by the voluminous record of previous and pending actions, and the evidence relative to proposed suits should not be allowed to cast its shadow upon the pathway of this young boy. The consideration of his welfare is the most important element before the court in the determination of the first prayer of the supplementary motion.

Spirit of Hostility
The court is convinced, and finds, that the before mentioned litigation and the spirit of hostility it engenders renders both parents unsuitable custodians of their child during its pendency.

"Decree:
"As to the defendant George A. Carpenter, the motion is dismissed. No sufficient reason has been suggested for making him a party to this supplementary motion.

John P. Kent of 230 Pleasant St., Concord, N. H. is hereby appointed custodian of Ralph G. Carpenter, Jr. He will receive Ralph, Jr. into his home and there maintain him as one of his family, standing in loco parentis.

ROOSEVELT TO JOIN STAFF OF NEWSPAPER

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 4.—The Kansas City Star prints the following under the caption "An Announcement."
"Oct. 1 Theodore Roosevelt will become a member of the staff of the Star. Thereafter he will contribute regularly by wire his comment on current events."

"The Star has long felt that a daily newspaper would give him the best possible medium for the expression of opinion on matters on which his views are of prime importance. In this belief Col. Roosevelt has now come to acquiesce."

"Several courses were open to him, including that offered by an urgent invitation to write for a syndicate of newspapers, but he held that the strategic place of Kansas City in the very heart of the country, and the sharing of common ideals by himself and the Star made this newspaper the appropriate medium with which to ally himself."

"The Star would be guilty of false modesty if it did not frankly confess its happiness in the acquisition of Col. Roosevelt to its organization in the capacity of a regular contributor."

ARE STUDYING JAPANESE

Sydney, Australia, Sept. 4.—The cadets at Australia's "West Point" the Royal Military College at Duntroon have begun the study of Japanese under a specially appointed teacher. It is also proposed that Japanese be made a part of the curriculum at the Royal Australian Naval College at Jervis Bay, in addition to this the instructor in Japanese at Duntroon will conduct classes in that language at Sydney University.

In furtherance of the general scheme of making Australians conversant with the Japanese language it has been decided to invite several more Japanese teachers to settle in Australia in the expectation that, after the war, the trade relations between the Commonwealth and Japan will assume very large proportions.

DRAFTED MEN PARADE IN NEW YORK

(By Associated Press)
New York, Sept. 5.—For the second time within a week, New York Tuesday honored her fighting men when several thousand future soldiers, who were called to the colors under the selective draft law, paraded up Fifth avenue preparatory to leaving for their training camp. Not all of the men in the parade were drafted, although all marched without uniforms.

UNUSUAL HIGH TIDES AT HAMPTON BEACH

The high tide on Monday did a vast amount of damage at White Island, Hampton Beach, where about 30 feet of the point was washed away and several cottages badly undermined. It was said to prevent them from being washed into the sea that one or more cottages would have to be moved from their present location.

The tides have been unusually high the past week, and the undertow has been especially strong, also.

Peri Constitution, N. H. Sealed proposals, number for six barracks and other buildings here will be received until 12 M., September 10, 1917. Information on application to Quartermaster.

HEAVY SLUMP IN N. Y. STOCK MARKET

(By Associated Press)
New York, Sept. 4.—One of the severest setbacks the stock market has experienced in several months occurred today, when prices broke five to ten points under feverish liquidation. The market was all but demoralized during the last hour of trading and all sorts of wild rumors were afloat in Wall street. Liquidation in old-time investment stocks started the decline.

CLAIM FOR EXEMPTION IS DENIED

The local exemption board on Tuesday denied the appeal claim for exemption of Morris Salden.

Fred S. Cantrell of Lynn also on Tuesday filed an appeal from the decision refusing exemption for failure to file proof of his claim of dependents. He asserts that his affidavits went astray in the mail. Three other claims for exemption were denied because of failure to provide proofs.

The local board needs but eighteen men to complete its quota of seventy-five in the first Rockingham district, and two hundred men have been summoned for examination the latter part of this week.

CITY OFFICIALS AND RAILROADS END THE FIGHT

Last Chapter in the Middle St. Controversy Closed Today.

The last chapter in the controversy between the city of Portsmouth and the Boston and Maine railroad was closed today when Attorney George F. Hughes of Dover, representing the railroad, notified the city solicitor that he had today filed an acceptance by the railroad of the terms of the resolutions passed by the city government relative to the matter of work to be jointly done on Middle street. He stated also that he presumed that the city would get in touch with the Boston & Maine officials at once in order that the work could be pushed as fast as possible.

By this agreement referred to the city will be obliged to expend several thousand dollars more than the original appropriation on paving called for owing to the work which the railroad refused to do between the rails of the street car line and 48 inches outside each rail.

The public service commission has for several weeks had the petition of the city in its hands, but owing to the conferences held from time to time between the railroad and city officials the commission took no action which was even made public.

LOOKING FOR A NICE JOY RIDE

Owner of Automobile Catches Men Cranking Up Car.

John J. Sheehan and Leonard Joyce were in the morning session of municipal court today charged with attempted larceny of an auto, the property of Harry Wood of the firm of Saco and Wood. The owner claims that while his machine was standing in front of the Buckminster on Balling street on Tuesday evening that the two men were seen cranking the machine and otherwise giving it lots of attention. Woods spoke to them and they claimed they were only fooling with it. They were quite huffy with Wood and words passed between them. Later Wood discovered a key in the box which he said was left by the two in their attempt to get it going and he reported it to the police. Officer Murphy found them later and placed them under arrest. The court heard the case today and on the evidence ordered a fine of $17.50 each which they paid.

HAD SOME TALK BUT NOT MUCH FIGHT

A story was in circulation on the street Sunday afternoon shortly before 4 o'clock that some sailors and local toughs had an argument on Third street and that they had gone to Horne's Hill to settle the difficulty with a pugilist encounter.

The story reached Marshal Wilkinson at the police station and he quickly detailed Assistant Marshal Murray, Officers Trask, Scanlon, McDonough and Caverly to go to Horne's Hill and investigate the matter. The officers went to Parker's field where they found a number of sailors and local young men. There was no evidence of a fight having taken place or that one was about to take place.

The officers rounded up the party and took them all to the station, where they were interviewed in relation to the matter and after being given some good advice were allowed to take their departure.—Dover Democrat.

Much quiet kidding has been going on over the selections played by our local band on Tuesday noon. One of the airs played was a snappy march of a fine German selection "Our Fatherland."
